The Weekly Round Up

Friday 22nd January

As another week of remote learning comes to an end, I want to say another big thank you! Thank you for your continued support with helping your child to engage in their live sessions and with work uploaded to Seesaw. We are still very much in the early stages of our remote learning journey and are tweaking and refining things as we go along.

We know that whenever technology is used that there will be glitches. Some of which are beyond our control. Please do not worry if you are unable to log on to a live session. There is no need to ring the office to let them know. A message to the teacher via Seesaw, after the live session, should you wish to do so, will suffice. Please be aware that teachers are not able to respond to messages as quickly when they are in school especially when they are holding live sessions.

Thank you again for all your positive feedback that you have taken the time to share with us this week. It is very much appreciated and acknowledges the hard work of all the staff who are working harder than ever before, going above and beyond in their roles.

Teachers carefully plan work for all areas of the curriculum that are appropriate to the age group of your child. Please continue to engage in as much of the learning as your circumstances allow. We love seeing what you have been doing so please continue to share your work and pictures with us.

From time to time we may contact you via phone, just to check in and see how you are doing. Sometimes these calls could come from a withheld number. We understand not everyone answers these calls but if we leave you a message please call us back. It's nothing to worry about, it's just because we care!

We are very lucky at Stondon Lower that we have amazing Parents. This week one of our Parents has kindly donated to us brand new note pads, pencils, pencil sharpeners, rubbers, ruler and pencil cases. If you are running low on stationary or your child needs a little boost to help them with their remote learning then next week outside the main front door we will have some stationary available for families to come and collect when out on their daily walk.

We also have still have some white boards and pens available to assist with the live sessions these will also be outside if you need them. We hope that some of you will be able to make use of this incredibly kind gesture.
